Congratulations – you will no longer have to share your garden with neighborhood cats!

When cats come within range, CatStop emits a burst of ultrasonic sound that startles them and teaches them to stay away. People can't hear the ultrasonic burst of CatStop, but the red light comes on to let you know each time it activates.

1 Install 9-volt battery (not included) or use AC adapter (sold separately)

When the battery is first installed, the red light behind the CatStop lens will stay on for approximately 30 seconds. After that, the red light will come on each time the CatStop is activated.

2 Attach stake to CatStop

Use the extension stake if more height is needed. If using on a deck or patio, leave the stake off and simply set the CatStop on the ground.

Snap stake into CatStop.

Add extension stake if required.

You can also mount the CatStop to a wall or a fence, by using the mounting holes at the back. Mount the CatStop a maximum of 12" (30 cm) off the ground.

Distance between mounting holes: 2.5" (6.3 cm)

3 Position CatStop

Place the CatStop in front of the area you wish to protect. To avoid battery drain, do not face CatStop toward high-traffic areas such as sidewalks. In high-traffic areas we recommend using the AC adapter (sold separately).

Detection Range (Top View)

CAUTIONS: For outdoor use only. Do not hold the speaker to your ear. Do not press against the lens.
NOTE: Some white cats, older cats and exotic breeds lack the ability to detect sound in the upper range and may not be affected.
