Over the years Majesty's has changed from when it first started in founders and owners, David & Merre Friend's kitchen. Through those years of change we have always kept the same core values that the Friends had in mind—quality, easy-to-use supplements that are effective and save our customers time and money.

Majesty's Animal Nutrition, a family owned business, has its manufacturing plant nestled east of the Cascade Mountains, located in beautiful Central Oregon. Because we produce them ourselves we have optimum control over the quality and freshness of our no-bake wafers. This also lead to us being able to off you, the customer, not only products for your dogs but products for your other four-legged friends as well, namely horses.
