Directions: Snap Fly Collar around animal's neck. Collar must be worn snugly, yet loose enough so one to two fingers may be easily inserted between the collar and the neck. Any collar when snapped too tightly may cause skin irritation. The Fly Collar is not intended for full body coverage, but for limited coverage around ears, eyes, face and neck. Once collar packaging is opened and/ or Fly Collar is placed around animal's neck, ingredients begin generating a repelling effect against flies, fleas and mosquitos, ticks and "no-see-ums" for up to 2 months. Keep Fly Collar dry. When bathing animal, remove collar. If Fly Collar is removed from packaging before use or from animal for intermittent wearing, it is suggested you place the fly collar in a zip-lock bag and in a cool, dry place for ultimate duration of effectiveness. Replace collar when effectiveness diminishes. This is a superior collar and should not harm healthy animals.

Caution: Do not open packaging until ready to use. Do not allow children to play with this collar. This animal collar is intended for use only as an insecticide generator and is not to be taken internally by man or animals. Some animals may be sensitive to this collar. The materials are not certified to be hypoallergenic and may cause allergic reactions in some animals. Animals should not be allowed to chew on a collar. When collar is first worn, observe neck area for irritation every few days. Remove collar at first sign of irritation or a first reaction. Do not use on sick or convalescing animals.
